

Affirmative Informal (Tú) Commands

Affirmative tú commands are used to tell a friend, family member the same age as you or younger, classmate, child, or pet to do something.

How to Form Regular Tú Commands

For regular verbs, use the third-person singular form of the present indicative to form an affirmative tú command.

FORMING COMMANDS WITH -AR VERBS

For verbs that end in -ar, add the third-person singular ending -a to the stem.

Verb	Stem	Tú Command	English
comprar	compr-	Compra la camisa.	Buy the shirt.

FORMING COMMANDS WITH -ER AND -IR VERBS

For verbs that end in -er and -ir, add the third-person singular ending -e to the stem.

Verb	Stem	Tú Command	English
aprender	aprend-	Japrende español!	Learn Spanish!
escribir	escrib-	Escribe el ensayo.	Write the essay.

Forming Commands with Verbs with Stem or Spelling Changes

For verbs with stem changes or spelling changes in the present tense, the stem or spelling change also applies to the informal command form.

Verb	Tú Command	English
cerrar	Cierra la puerta.	Close the door.
moveir	Mueve esas sillas.	Move those chairs.

Irregular Affirmative Tú Commands

Verb	Tú Command
ser	sé
ir	ve
tener	ten
venir	ven
hacer	haz
decir	di
poner	pon
salir	sal

Pronoun Placement

Pronouns are attached to the end of affirmative commands. If the command form of the verb has more than one syllable, a written accent is added when attaching a pronoun.

Tráelo. Bring it.
Tráemelo. Bring it to me.
Dilo. Say it.
Díselo. Say it to her.

Punctuation to the Rescue!

Because informal tú commands take the same form as the third-person singular of the present tense, it is helpful to include exclamation points to indicate urgency. You can also include the name of the person you are commanding, followed by a comma. Without the comma, an imperative verb could be confused with a third-person singular present verb. Compare the following sentences, paying careful attention to the different punctuation.

Spanish	English	Verb Mood
Compra la camisa.	She buys the shirt.	Present indicative
¡Compra la camisa!	Buy the shirt!	Informal imperative
Alicia compra la camisa.	Alicia buys the shirt.	Present indicative
Alicia, compra la camisa.	Alicia, buy the shirt.	Informal imperative

As you can see, punctuation can really change how a sentence is interpreted.

Affirmative Formal (Usted/Ustedes) Commands

Formal commands are used to tell a person you don't know well, a person older than you, or a person to whom you want to show deference or respect (like a boss or teacher) to do something.

How to Form Regular Affirmative Formal Commands

All Ud. (usted) and Uds. (ustedes) commands use the same form as Ud. and Uds. present subjunctive forms.

Infinitive	Ud. Present Subjunctive	Ud. Formal Command	Uds. Present Subjunctive	Uds. Formal Command
hablar	hable	hable	hablen	hablen
comer	coma	coma	coman	coman
vivir	viva	viva	vivan	vivan

Pronoun Placement

Pronouns are attached to the end of affirmative commands. If the command form of the verb has more than one syllable, a written accent is added when attaching a pronoun.

Tráigamelo. Bring it to me.
Mírenlo. Look at it.

Negative Formal Commands

How to Form Regular Negative Formal Commands

Negative formal commands couldn't be easier. All you have to do is put a negative word such as no in front of the affirmative formal command, and you've got yourself a negative formal command.

No saquen sus libros. Do not take out your books.

No ponga su bolsa aquí. Do not put your purse here.

No vengan mañana. Do not come tomorrow.

No se preocupe. Don't worry.

Pronoun Placement

Pronouns come between the negative word and the command form in negative formal commands.

No se levante antes de leer el artículo. Don't get up before you read the article.

Negative Tú Commands

Negative tú commands are used to tell a friend, family member the same age as you or younger, classmate, child, or pet not to do something.

How to Form Regular Negative Tú Commands

Regular informal tú commands use the same form as the tú form of the present subjunctive. Always make sure you put no or another negative word like nunca (never) before the verb when forming a negative informal command.

Infinitive Tú Form of Present Subjunctive Negative Informal Command

comprar	compres	no compres
aprender	aprendas	no aprendas
escribir	escribas	no escribas

How to Form Irregular Tú Commands

If a verb is irregular in the present subjunctive, its negative informal command is also irregular.

No hagas la tarea.

Don't do the homework.

No seas injusto.

Don't be unfair.

Pronoun Placement

In negative informal commands, the pronoun goes between the negative word and the verb.

Nunca les compres dulces a los niños.

Never buy candy for the children.

No se los compres.

Don't buy them for them.

Indirect Commands

Indirect commands are often used for giving commands through a third party or to an unspecified recipient. You'll see them used in signs, instructions, and recipes. There are two kinds of indirect commands: que commands and infinitive commands.

How to Form Que Commands

- que + present subjunctive

Que pase.

Let him in.

Que me llamen.

Have them call me.

Que tenga un buen día.

Have a good day.

Que no vea mi madre.

Don't let my mother see.

Que venga el cliente.

Have the client come in.

How to Form Infinitive Commands

- To form an affirmative infinitive command, simply use the infinitive. Don't conjugate anything!
- To form a negative infinitive command, simply use the word no and the infinitive. Once again, don't conjugate anything!

No pisar el césped.

No walking on the grass.

Mezclar los ingredientes en un tazón.

Mix the ingredients in a bowl.

No fumar.

No smoking.

Affirmative Nosotros Commands

Nosotros commands are used by a speaker to suggest an action be (or not be) performed by a group of people they belong to.

There are two types of nosotros commands in Spanish:

- subjunctive form commands
- vamos a + infinitive commands

How to Form Subjunctive Commands

To form nosotros commands with the subjunctive, simply use the nosotros form of the present subjunctive.

Comamos aquí.

Let's eat here.

Trabajemos juntos.

Let's work together.

Pronoun Placement Tips

- Drop the final -s from the verb.
- Attach the pronoun to the end of the subjunctive command form.
- Write an accent on the second-to-last syllable of the original verb form.

Formula Spanish English

Sentemos + nos	Sentémonos aquí.	Let's sit here.
Hagamos + se + la	Hagámosela.	Let's make it for her.
Vamos + nos	¡Vámonos!	Let's go!

How to Form Vamos a + Infinitive Commands

To make this common command form, you simply use the phrase vamos a plus any infinitive verb.

Vamos a relajarnos.

Let's relax.

¡Vamos a divertirnos!

Let's have some fun!

Pronoun Placement

Simply attach the pronoun to the end of the infinitive form.

Vamos a sentarnos aquí.

Let's sit here.

Vamos a dormirnos.

Let's go to sleep.

Negative Nosotros Commands

How to Form Negative Nosotros Commands

To form negative nosotros commands, put no or another negative word before the affirmative subjunctive form command.

No nademos.

Let's not swim.

No salgamos.

Let's not leave.

Pronoun Placement

This one's easy! The reflexive, direct object, or indirect object pronoun comes between the negative word and the verb. That's it!

No lo comamos.

Let's not eat it.

No se los demos.

Let's not give it to them.
